NOVEMBER 10, 1965

Absent: Councilmen - BROWN

TRAFFIC STUDY AUTHORIZED

Mr. Graves introduced Dr. D. Jackson Faustman, consulting traffic engineer. Dr. Faustman gave the Council a brief resume of his experience as a traffic engineer and then outlined the phases of his proposal for a traffic survey of the City of Lodi. He explained his purpose would be to develop the traffic circulation aspects of the Lodi General Plan, one phase of which would be to gather data in relation to density of population, land uses, etc. A computer would be used to analyze this material and the results could then be translated into design criteria for the City's traffic plan. Dr. Faustman said the State Division of Highways has been making their computer available at no cost to cities undertaking such a survey. Existing traffic deficiencies would be determined and a program laid out in logical order attacking such deficiencies. Traffic control devices, diagonal and parallel parking, etc., would all be reviewed. His fee for a complete survey would be $10,500 and would take from six to nine months. Dr. Faustman said the study would be tied to the planning concept and would give the Council a future reference point. He stated that if the State refused permission to use its computer, his cost figure would be changed as it would be necessary to have such work done elsewhere. After discussion by the Council, it was moved by Councilman Culbertson that the proposal of Dr. Faustman for a complete traffic survey for the City of Lodi at a cost of $10,500 be accepted. His motion was seconded by Councilman Dow and carried. It was understood that if the State refused use of its computer, the proposal would be reconsidered.
